

Scott Jansen

Director, Office of Skills Development
Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development

Jansen was named director of the new Office for Skills Development in the Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development in May 2013. In this capacity, he is tasked with implementing Gov. Scott Walker's Wisconsin Fast Forward initiative, a grant program that aims to train skilled workers in the state. Prior to this role, Jansen served as talent dividend director for the Greater Milwaukee Committee, leading community efforts to increase educational attainment in the region and assisting adults in obtaining degrees and training certification. He spent 27 years with AT&T, retiring as regional vice president of external affairs.
