

Notice before Relocating a Child Not Living with Both Legal Parents

This Act directs that if an existing custody order or other enforceable agreement does not expressly govern the relocation of the principal residence of a child, a parent who intends to change his or her principal residence shall provide reasonable written notice by certified mail or admission of service to the other legal parent of the child. Reasonable notice is notice that is given at least forty-five days before relocation or a shorter period if reasonable under the specific facts giving rise to the relocation. Proof of the notice shall be filed with the court of record unless notice is waived by the court.

4 Section 2. [Notice from Parent about Relocating the Principal Residence of a Child
5 in the Parent’s Custody.]

6 (a) If an existing custody order or other enforceable agreement does not expressly 7 govern the relocation of the principal residence of a child, a parent who intends to change his 8 or her principal residence shall, provide reasonable written notice by certified mail or 9 admission of service to the other legal parent of the child. Reasonable notice is notice that is 10 given at least [forty-five days] before relocation or a shorter period if reasonable under the 11 specific facts giving rise to the relocation. Proof of the notice shall be filed with the court of 12 record unless notice is waived by the court. No notice need be provided pursuant to this 13 section if:

14 (1) The relocation results in the child moving closer to the noncustodial 15 parent; or

16 (2) The relocation is within the boundaries of the child’s current school 17 district; or

18 (3) There is an existing valid protection order in favor of the child or the 19 custodial parent against the noncustodial parent; or

20 (4) Within the preceding [twelve months], the nonrelocating parent has been 21 convicted of violation of a protection order, criminal assault, child abuse, or other domestic 22 violence and either the child or the custodial parent was the victim of the crime or violation.

23 (b) The notice required in part (a) of this section of this Act shall contain the 24 following:

25 (1) The address and telephone number, if known, of the new residence;
