Foreword

The Council of State Governments (CSG) is pleased to bring you this Supplement edition of *Suggested State Legislation, a valued series of compilations of draft legislation from state statutes on topics of current interest and importance to the states. The CSG Committee on Suggested State Legislation compiled this supplement as part of Vermont Governor James Douglas' initiative as the 2006 CSG President - "Spanning the Spectrum of Healthy Living - Childhood to Adulthood."

That initiative addressed the need for a comprehensive approach to healthy living. It explored many of the key ingredients to create and maintain healthy lifestyles and healthy communities. And it highlighted how state policymakers can help their constituents and communities prepare for healthy, productive futures. This Suggested State Legislation "Supplement" contains articles, Suggested State Legislation drafts, recent state legislation, and state legislation from previous SSL dockets, which address a variety of state services to America's aging population.

ABOUT THIS SUPPLEMENT

As baby boomers near retirement, and as health care costs continue to increase, the nation's attention has turned increasingly to the much-discussed "age wave." Policymakers and the media have highlighted the potential economic, social and political consequences of the fact that the 76 million Americans born between 1946 and 1964 will reshape our country's policies as they grow older.

While many people associate aging with disease and disability, the reality is that Americans are living longer and healthier lives than ever before. And local, state and federal efforts to promote healthy aging can pay off in improved health, better quality-of-life and increased productivity for millions of seniors.

Vermont Governor James Douglas was the 2006 President of The Council of State Governments. His initiative as CSG's president, "Spanning the Spectrum of Healthy Living - Childhood to Adulthood," addressed the need for a comprehensive approach to healthy living. It explored many of the key ingredients to create and maintain healthy lifestyles and healthy communities. And it highlighted how state policymakers can help their constituents and communities prepare for healthy, productive futures.

This Suggested State Legislation "Supplement" is part of Governor Douglas' initiative. This supplement contains articles, Suggested State Legislation drafts, recent state legislation, and state legislation from previous SSL dockets, which address a variety of state services to America's aging population.

THE COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS
SUGGESTED STATE LEGISLATION SUPPLEMENT
A SILVER SOCIETY: AGING IN AMERICA

OVERVIEW (Trends in America: Charting the Course Ahead – CSG, June 2005)

Two simple facts are shaping America's future: People are living longer and having fewer children. The outcome of these two trends is that the percentage of older people in the United States is growing. The aging population will have profound consequences, which state leaders are beginning to recognize but largely have not addressed.

In the first half of the 20th century, the graphs of population distribution by age group resembled half-pyramids, with a large base of younger people supporting a small top layer of older people. Longer life expectancies in the future should change that half-pyramid into a bullet-shape.

Most social programs, public and private health insurance systems and retirement funds rely on younger working generations to support older generations. There are currently nearly five people of working age for each older person. In the near future, this ratio will drop to fewer than three workers for each older person. Demographers and policy-makers alike worry there will not be enough younger workers or productivity gains in the economy to adequately address these programs' future financial needs.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the number of people older than 65 will more than double between 2000 and 2050, and the population over age 85 will quadruple. Fueling America's population transformation are the 76 million baby boomers born between 1946 and 1964. This unusually large demographic group has changed America's institutions as they have grown older, starting with schools and then moving into the work force. The boomers' upcoming exodus from the work force will gain momentum rapidly as the first wave of boomers turns 65 in 2011.

What does this trend mean for states?

Americans' expectations of what it means to get older are changing. This is partly because of the boomers' influence. The boomers are healthier, more financially secure and more educated than previous generations. Despite these positive characteristics, the aging of the population will provide many challenges as well.

The aging of the population will continue to exert pressure on health care costs, forcing difficult choices.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, health care expenditures for a 65-year-old on average are four times those for a 40-year-old. Because there will be more older people who live longer, experts predict that overall U.S. health care expenditures will increase 25 percent by 2030.

Long-term care needs are particularly problematic. The Medicaid program is currently the largest payer for those types of services, accounting for almost half of all long-term care spending. Few Americans have long-term care insurance or sufficient resources to provide for their needs should they become disabled. Thus, the government ends up picking up the tab.

Changing family structures combined with the aging population may lead to a caregiving crisis.

Currently, families provide most of the support for aging individuals. According to the National Family Caregiving Alliance, nearly one out of every four households is involved in caring for people age 50 or over. The combination of an aging populace and changing family structures—including fewer children, higher divorce rates, more single parent families, greater job mobility and delayed childbearing—means that family members may provide fewer of the support services seniors need in the future.

Because states and localities are often the human service payers and providers of last resort, there are concerns about the adequacy of social service networks and the potential rise of elder abuse and neglect. There is already a shortage of allied health professionals such as nurse aides, who could help fill the caregiving gap, and the shortage will only get worse in the next few years.

State tax structures may not be well-equipped to handle the aging of the population.

As the population ages, state tax collections will be affected. State budgets rely heavily on income and sales taxes for revenue. As more and more baby boomers retire, states may see a dramatic decline in income tax revenues. Why? For one thing, many states exempt all or part of private and public pension income from taxation. This results in a smaller tax base.

Although baby boomers are wealthier than previous generations, their consumption patterns may change as they age. For instance, older individuals may spend more money on non-taxed services such as health care. In addition, retired baby boomers may have less disposable income than they did while they were working, which could affect state sales tax revenues.

Also, many states have enacted a homestead exemption or have given tax credits that reduce the amount of property taxes paid by the elderly. This exemption may restrict local revenues, possibly putting greater emphasis on intergovernmental aid.

Work force shortages are on the horizon and will be particularly problematic in certain sectors of the economy.

Since a vibrant economy can translate into a healthy revenue base, states are closely examining aging's impact on the work force. Baby boomers comprise as much as 60 percent of today's prime-age work force, and their retirement will leave many vacancies.

Some economic sectors will be hit harder than others. Don Jakeway, CEO of the Michigan Economic Development Corporation, notes that the need for many manufacturing positions may be eliminated by industry advancements as technology, robotics and new techniques increase productivity and require fewer people.

However, the labor-intensive service sectors may face a different scenario. Health care, teaching and other service industries are expected to experience acute shortages as the need for additional workers increases just as many workers are eligible to retire. State governments are particularly vulnerable to future work force shortages. Thirty percent of the states work force will be eligible for retirement by 2006, according to a 2002 study by CSG and the National Association of State Personnel Executives.

State pension and retirement systems face funding problems.

As federal policy-makers debate the future of Social Security, state pension and retirement funds face similar funding dilemmas. The combination of poor economic returns in the recent past and growing liabilities from increasing numbers of retirees has translated into funding problems for nearly every state's public retirement system.

This is occurring at a time when state revenues are not rising sharply and the costs of other state priorities, health care in particular, are increasing. Since state courts have declared that government must pay all pension benefits regardless of the state's fiscal situation, states are looking into ways to deal with the current funding situation and avoid similar situations in the future.

There is a growing need for elder-ready communities.

"States and communities would be well advised to adapt their physical infrastructures and services to the needs of older Americans," said Vermont Governor Jim Douglas. Elder-ready communities are pedestrian-friendly, have public transportation options and are relatively compact so that people do not have to travel far to get to the grocery store, pharmacy or health care providers. Because mobility is a major consideration as people age, elder-friendly communities focus on alleviating the problems associated with elderly drivers. As age increases, sensory and motor capabilities decline, perception and attention impairments become more common and, as a result, driving becomes more difficult. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, drivers over the age of 65 are more likely than all other drivers to be involved in and killed in traffic accidents on a per-mile-driven and per-licensed-driver basis.

Elder-ready communities have elder-friendly housing such as smaller, one-story dwellings. Older people often do not want to live in large houses that require a lot of upkeep. In addition, as more people retire and live on fixed incomes, housing affordability will become a major issue.

States are already promoting the concept of elder-ready communities. In 2000, Florida launched its Elder Ready Communities Program to help local leaders assess their community's elder readiness and develop a plan to promote an elder-friendly environment. By actively encouraging local communities to be sensitive to the needs of seniors, states can play a major role in addressing the effects of the aging population.

What does the future hold?

In the next few years, we won't experience cataclysmic effects from the aging population. The changes will be gradual, but over time the cumulative demographic, social and political consequences will likely be dramatic.

Scientific and medical advances will continue to contribute to long and relatively healthy lives. The recent trend toward policies that favor home- and community-based care, rather than institutional care, will continue, and new technologies will allow seniors to live independently longer. Health care and services that cater to older Americans will play an increasingly significant role in the economy. End-of-life and quality-of-life issues will take a prominent place in political debates as people live longer—sometimes with serious medical conditions.

The aging baby boomers will redefine what it means to retire. Many will continue working well into their 70s and 80s, perhaps retiring from one career to try something new. Others will be actively engaged in their communities through volunteer work or political activism. One way or another, the boomers will force policy-makers to reconsider the way retirement systems are structured and funded.

STATE SOLUTIONS (Trends in America, Navigating Turbulence to Success – CSG, December 2005)

Comprehensive State Programs

New York's Project 2015 is a government-wide initiative to address the aging and increasing diversity of the state's population. Begun in 1998, the effort is led by the state Office for the Aging. Thirty-six agencies have reviewed their policies, programs and structures in light of demographic changes and have identified top priorities that should be addressed within the next 10 years.

Similarly, Minnesota's Project 2030 involved an intensive planning process in 1997 and 1998 to analyze the aging population's impact on communities and state and local government.

In March 2005, Governor Jim Douglas signed an executive order creating a Commission on Healthy Aging. Composed of public and private experts from a variety of fields, the commission is working to ensure focus and coordination as Vermont strives to make healthy aging the rule, rather than the exception. The initiative has two goals: containing health care costs and keeping seniors healthy, active and productive in their communities.

State Efforts to Contain Health Care Costs

Two areas in which the age wave is already significantly affecting state governments are raising health care costs and the need to ensure adequate caregiving systems for seniors. States are using a variety of approaches to control the health care costs associated with caring for the elderly. To limit future Medicaid payments for long-term care services, some states have offered incentives for individuals to purchase long-term care insurance, while others are seeking ways for patients to use more of their personal assets to pay for nursing home care before becoming eligible for Medicaid. Other strategies include disease and injury prevention efforts, greater efficiencies in providing care, and restructuring state agencies that support seniors so they encourage independence and provide alternatives to nursing home care when appropriate.

Preventing Disease and Injury

Strategies to avert illness in the elderly are aimed at preventing or delaying chronic diseases and their complications, injuries and vaccine preventable infectious diseases.¹ State efforts to promote healthy lifestyles and avoid chronic diseases focus on improving nutrition, reducing smoking and increasing physical activity. New York's Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, for example, provides home-delivered meals, congregate meals, and nutritional counseling and education for the frail elderly at nutritional risk.²

West Virginia's Wheeling Walks program used a powerful eight-week media campaign to encourage seniors to walk, starting with 10-minute increments. Thirty percent of participants surveyed after the program were regular walkers, compared with 16 percent in a comparison community. The program's success was attributed to the intensity of the media campaign, supported by workplace events and physicians who wrote prescriptions for walking.³ Some educational efforts seek to reduce seniors' susceptibility to traffic accidents.

The GrandDriver campaign is a social marketing campaign aimed at elderly drivers and their adult family members in Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia. Its goal is to make families aware of the signs of impaired driving and help the elderly make plans to stop driving. The initiative also encourages larger traffic lights, more prominent signs for intersections, more clearly marked street names, and automobile industry incentives to assess the impact of new technologies on older drivers.⁴

Managing Use of Health Care Treatments and Medications

Another strategy to control health care costs is to integrate the appropriate use of medical technologies and treatments, in-home supports for patients and prescription medications. To reduce the cost of care for Medicaid patients with chronic conditions such as asthma, diabetes and hypertension, states have implemented disease management programs, which combine proven, cost-effective medical treatments with complete patient education. Georgia, for example, assigned case managers to frail and disabled Medicaid beneficiaries. The coordination of care decreased the need for nursing home and hospital care, and reduced overall per capita program costs.⁵ Other programs focus on educating patients with chronic diseases to manage their conditions and avoid complications. Washington state, for instance, started a telephone outreach service on self-management for Medicaid clients with asthma, diabetes, heart failure and chronic kidney disease. This led to estimated savings of $2 million by reducing emergency room visits and hospital admissions.⁶

Appropriately prescribed and administered medications are often a cost-effective way to help individuals with chronic conditions stay healthy and control the complications of their diseases.⁷ Several states have addressed the affordability of prescription drugs.⁸ New York recently expanded the Elderly Pharmaceutical Insurance Coverage program by increasing income eligibility levels and reducing enrollment fees.⁹ Illinois, New Hampshire, Minnesota and Wisconsin are among the states that use the I-SaveRX program. Individuals use the state-sponsored system to directly purchase renewal prescriptions from pharmacies in Canada, England, Scotland and Ireland, where prices are 20 percent to 25 percent lower than in the United States.¹⁰ Arizona's free CoppeRx Card provides seniors discounts at 500 pharmacies on some prescription drugs. And North Carolina integrated its Senior Care prescription assistance program with the new Medicare Prescription Drug discount cards, which enables seniors to take advantage of both programs at their pharmacies.¹¹

Integrating Support Programs for Efficiency

To enable older adults and their caregivers to seamlessly use lower cost community- and home-based services as an alternative to more costly nursing homes and assisted living, states have integrated the state agencies and programs that support these services. Oregon and Washington have completely integrated state aging and long-term care Medicaid services. In Wisconsin, an example of the approach many states have taken, state agencies have not been fully integrated, but the Family Care Program's resource centers provide single entry points for all types of long-term care services available to the elderly. These integrated systems allow consumers to choose less costly non-institutional sources for their care. Thus state resources are used in the most efficient manner. Services are coordinated through care management organizations that are paid for all services rendered to the elderly, including nursing home care, and are held accountable for patient results.

State Approaches to Caregiving

Closely associated with efforts to contain health care costs is the challenge of providing appropriate care for the elderly. State approaches range from efforts to support informal care provided by family and friends to initiatives centered on more formal systems of care. Although they take various forms, these initiatives generally share the recognition that helping seniors stay in their homes and communities as long as possible will save money and help them maintain their quality of life.

Supporting Families and Communities

One approach is to establish a physical and social environment that supports healthy aging in place and delays the need for caregiving as long as possible. Such an environment includes accessible, affordable housing linked with needed support services, transportation systems that keep older adults mobile once they stop driving, effective wellness and nutrition programs, and responsive mental health services.¹² Florida's Communities for a Lifetime is a statewide initiative to help communities create a better place for older adults to live, while benefiting all residents. Participating communities use their existing resources and technical assistance from the state to improve housing, health care, transportation, community education, and volunteer opportunities.¹³

Other state programs help support individuals who care for aging family members. California's Caregiver Resource Centers, for example, help families care for members with adult-onset brain impairments, including Alzheimer's and stroke. Available services include information and referral, family consultation and care planning, respite care, counseling, support groups, education, and legal and financial consultation.¹⁴ Pennsylvania's Family Caregiver Support program provides needs assessments, education, counseling, up to $200 a month to help pay for out-of-pocket expenses, and one-time grants of up to $2,000 for income-eligible families.¹⁵

States are also allowing consumers and caregivers more control in selecting the service options that work best for them under state-supported programs. For example, the Illinois Local Area Agencies on Aging provide vouchers to family caregivers for goods and services they need to continue providing personal care to their family member. The average value of the vouchers is $1,000 per year, which can be used for items ranging from respite care and home modifications to haircuts and lawn care.¹⁶

Encouraging Home- and Community-Based Care

In addition to supporting the informal care provided by family members and friends, states have also tested policy options related to formal systems of care, such as compensating family members who care for elderly relatives in their homes;¹⁷ enhancing benefits for homecare workers by helping them obtain health insurance or increasing wages;¹⁸ and offering home- and community-based care models, including adult day care.¹⁹ For instance, New York, through its Community Services for the Elderly (CSE), provides a flexible, locally directed funding stream for community-based, supportive services for frail, low-income elderly who need assistance to maintain their independence at home. CSE supports adult day care, shopping assistance, counseling, transportation, protective or other services to maximize an elderly person's independence in the home and community.

Several states have focused on comprehensive systems of home and community-based care. For example, Illinois' Older Adult Services Act of 2004 promotes transforming the state's comprehensive system of seniors' services from a primarily facility-based system to a primarily home- and community-based system, taking into account the continuing need for 24-hour skilled nursing care and group housing with services. The restructuring will encompass the provision of housing, health, financial and supportive services. It will include all aspects of the delivery system regardless of the setting in which the service is provided.²⁰

In 2000, Connecticut launched its Home Care and Assisted Living Alternatives to Nursing Home Care Initiative, building on home- and community-based service options the state began in 1996. The program is designed to allow seniors in need of long-term supportive care to remain in the community and avoid or delay nursing home care. It also sponsors a variety of pilot projects where additional support is provided to enable the elderly to remain independent whether supported by state and HUD-funded independent living housing, private-payment for assisted living, or an expansion of income eligibility criteria for Connecticut's home care program.²¹ Similarly, Florida's Nursing Home Diversion Program, established through a Medicaid waiver, has been placing patients in less intensive levels of care since 1999.²² And New York provides non-medical in-home services, case management, non-institutional respite and ancillary services to functionally impaired elderly who are in need of community-based long-term care but who are not eligible for similar services under Medicaid.²³

LEGISLATION

Preventing Disease and Injury

Regarding the Revocation/Denial of an Elder's Driver's License Based on Statements Made by Their Treating Physicians (2007 SSL)

This Act directs that the state division of driver's licensing may not issue or renew a driver's license to any person when the division has received a written statement from a licensed treating physician or optometrist stating that the person is not capable of safely operating a motor vehicle. The licensed treating physician or optometrist may request an examination by the division. The division can also require an individual to submit to a reexamination when the division staff believe an individual is unsafe or otherwise unqualified to be licensed. Upon the conclusion of the examination or the refusal to be examined the division may cancel the driver's license.

Emergency Evacuation Plans for People with Disabilities (2004 SSL)

This Act directs that by January 1, 2004, every high-rise building owner must establish and maintain an emergency evacuation plan for disabled occupants of the building who have notified the owner of their need for assistance. As used in the Act, “high-rise building” means any building 80 feet or more in height. The owner is responsible for maintaining and updating the plan as necessary to ensure that the plan continues to comply with the provisions of the Act. It exempts municipalities with more than 1,000,000 people and which already have ordinances establishing emergency procedures for high-rise buildings.

Financial Elder Abuse Reporting Statement

According to California legislative analysis, California's Elder and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act is a comprehensive statutory scheme enacted to prevent elder and dependent adult abuse and neglect and to prosecute those that inflict that abuse or neglect on elders and dependent adults. That Act:

- Requires mandated reporters who observes or has knowledge of elder or dependent adult physical or financial abuse or neglect, or is told by the elder or dependent adult that he/she has experienced abuse, to immediately report the known or suspected abuse.
- Defines "mandated reporter" as any person who is a provider of care to the elder or dependent adult, a health practitioner, clergy member, employee of county adult protective services or a local law enforcement and custody.
- Provides that a mandated reporter's failure to report elder or dependent adult abuse is a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in county jail for up to six months or a fine not to exceed $1,000 or by both, and if the failure to report results in death or great bodily injury the punishment is imprisonment in county jail for up to one year or a fine not to exceed $5,000 or both.
- Provides that mandated reporters are immune from criminal or civil liability as a result of any report of any known or suspected abuse of an elder or dependent adult, unless it can be proven that a false report was made and the person knew the report was false.
- Allows, but does not require, any person who is not a mandated reporter and who suspects an elder or dependent adult has been the victim of abuse to report the same to a long-term care ombudsman program or local law enforcement agency when the abuse is alleged to have occurred in a long-term facility, or to the county adult protective services agency when the suspected abuse has occurred elsewhere.
- Authorizes various agencies, including investigators from adult protective services, local law enforcement, the Bureau of Medi-Cal Fraud, and the Dept. of Consumer Affairs, to receive information relevant to an incident of elder or dependent adult abuse.
- Requires county adult protective services to provide humane societies, fire departments, and environmental health and building code enforcement offices with instructional materials regarding elder and dependent adult abuse and neglect.
- Defines "financial abuse" of an elder or dependent adult as the taking, secreting, appropriation, or retention of real or personal property of the elder or dependent adult to a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both or assisting another person in the above activities, and deems the taking, secreting, appropriating, or retaining of property for a wrongful use if it is done in bad faith.

California Chapter 140 of 2005 establishes the Financial Elder Abuse Reporting Act of 2005. This Act extends mandated reporting requirements for financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult to all officers and employees of certain financial institutions.

Specifically, Chapter 140 of 2005:

- Defines "mandated reporter of suspected financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult" as all officers and employees of financial institutions.
- Defines "financial institution" as a depository institution, an institution-affiliated party, or a federal, state, or institution-affiliated party credit union.

- Incorporates the existing definition of “financial abuse” in the state Welfare and Institutions Code, which states that financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult occurs when a person or entity does any of the following:

1. Takes, secretes, appropriates, or retains real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult to a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

2. Assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, or retaining real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult to a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

- Specifies that any mandated reporter of suspected financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult who has direct contact with the elder or dependent adult or who reviews or approves the elder's or dependent adult's financial documents, records, or transactions in connection with providing financial services with respect to an elder or dependent adult, and who within the scope of his or her employment and professional practice, has observed or has knowledge of an incident, that is directly related to the transaction or matter that is within that scope of practice, that reasonably appears to be financial abuse, or who reasonably suspects that abuse based upon the information before him/her standing alone, shall report the known or suspected instance of financial abuse by telephone immediately, or as soon as practicably possible, and written report sent within two working days to the local adult protective services (APS) agency, or the local law enforcement agency.

- Specifies that an allegation by the elder or dependent adult, or any other person, that financial abuse has occurred is not sufficient to trigger the reporting requirement if both of the following conditions are met:

1. The mandated reporter is aware of no other corroborating or independent evidence of the alleged abuse.

2. In the exercise of his/her professional judgment, the mandated reporter reasonably believes that the abuse did not occur.

- Provides that a mandated reporter of suspected financial use of an elder or dependent adult who fails to report financial abuse shall be subject to a civil penalty not exceeding $1,000. If the failure to report is willful, the civil penalty may be up to $5,000.

- Specifies that the civil penalty shall be paid by the financial institution who is the employer of the mandated reporter to the party bringing the action.

- Provides that the foregoing civil penalty shall be recovered only in a civil action brought against the financial institution by the Attorney General (AG), district attorney or county counsel, and that no action may be brought under this section by any person other than the AG, district attorney, or county counsel.

- Further provides that multiple actions for the civil penalty may not be brought for the same violation.

- Provides that the Act shall not be construed to limit, expand, or otherwise modify any civil liability or remedy which may exist under this or any other law.

- Provides that reports under the Act are privileged against defamation liability but are subject to disclosure as required by law or court order.

- Specifies that a county APS agency shall provide mandated reporters of suspected financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult with instructional materials regarding elder and dependent adult abuse and neglect, and their obligation to report such abuse.

Prescription Drug Labels: Purpose of Drug (2004 SSL)

Physicians, podiatrists, dentists, optometrists, advance practice nurses and physician assistants would be required to inform patients of the option to have this information included on the prescription label, but failure to do so would not result in any disciplinary action against the practitioner's professional license.

209 system linked to a central location. "Comprehensive case management" includes services and 210 coordination such as (i) comprehensive assessment of the older adult (including the physical, 211 functional, cognitive, psycho-social, and social needs of the individual); (ii) development and
212 implementation of a service plan with the older adult to mobilize the formal and family resources

217 monitoring to ensure that services specified in the plan are being provided; (iv) periodic 218 reassessment and revision of the status of the older adult with the older adult or, if necessary, the 219 older adult's designated representative; and (v) in accordance with the wishes of the older adult, 220 advocacy on behalf of the older adult for needed services or resources.

225 diseases, and best practices for use by professionals, older adults, and family caregivers.

227 services that promote independence and permit older adults to remain in their own homes and 231 choice and control over their care.

233 for older adults to receive services in systems that integrate acute and chronic care.

234 (8) Enhanced transition and follow-up services. The [Department] shall 235 implement a program of transition from one residential setting to another and follow-up services,
236 regardless of residential setting, pursuant to rules with respect to (i) resident eligibility, (ii)
237 assessment of the resident's health, cognitive, social, and financial needs, (iii) development of 238 transition plans, and (iv) the level of services that must be available before transitioning a 239 resident from one setting to another.

240 (9) Family caregiver support. The [Department] shall develop strategies for public 241 and private financing of services that supplement and support family caregivers.

242 (10) Quality standards and quality improvement. The [Department] shall establish 243 a core set of uniform quality standards for all providers that focus on outcomes and take into 244 consideration consumer choice and satisfaction, and the [Department] shall require each provider
245 to implement a continuous quality improvement process to address consumer issues. The 246 continuous quality improvement process must benchmark performance, be person-centered and 247 data-driven, and focus on consumer satisfaction.

248 (11) Workforce. The [Department] shall develop strategies to attract and retain a
249 qualified and stable worker pool, provide living wages and benefits, and create a work
250 environment that is conducive to long-term employment and career development. Resources 251 such as grants, education, and promotion of career opportunities may be used.

252 (12) Coordination of services. The [Department] shall identify methods to better 253 coordinate service networks to maximize resources and minimize duplication of services and 254 ease of application.

255 (13) Barriers to services. The [Department] shall identify barriers to the provision, 256 availability, and accessibility of services and shall implement a plan to address those barriers.

258 complexity, reimbursement issues, payment issues, and labor force issues; (ii) recommend

259 changes to State or federal laws or administrative rules or regulations; (iii) recommend 260 application for federal waivers to improve efficiency and reduce cost and paperwork; (iv)
261 develop innovative service delivery models; and (v) recommend application for federal or 262 private service grants.

263 (14) Reimbursement and funding. The [Department] shall investigate and 264 evaluate costs and payments by defining costs to implement a uniform, audited provider cost
265 reporting system to be considered by all [Departments] in establishing payments. To the extent 266 possible, multiple cost reporting mandates shall not be imposed.

267 (15) Medicaid nursing home cost containment and Medicare utilization. The 268 [Department of Public Aid], in collaboration with the [Department on Aging and the Department
269 of Public Health] and in consultation with the [Advisory Committee], shall propose a plan to 270 contain Medicaid nursing home costs and maximize Medicare utilization. The plan must not 271 impair the ability of an older adult to choose among available services. The plan shall include,
272 but not be limited to, (i) techniques to maximize the use of the most cost-effective services
273 without sacrificing quality and (ii) methods to identify and serve older adults in need of minimal
274 services to remain independent, but who are likely to develop a need for more extensive services
275 in the absence of those minimal services.

276 (16) Bed reduction. The [Department of Public Health] shall implement a nursing 277 home conversion program to reduce the number of Medicaid-certified nursing home beds in 278 areas with excess beds. The [Department of Public Aid] shall investigate changes to the 279 Medicaid nursing facility reimbursement system in order to reduce beds. Such changes may 280 include, but are not limited to, incentive payments that will enable facilities to adjust to the 281 restructuring and expansion of services required by the Older Adult Services Act, including
282 adjustments for the voluntary closure or layaway of nursing home beds certified under Title XIX
283 of the federal Social Security Act. Any savings shall be reallocated to fund home-based or 284 community-based older adult services pursuant to Section 5 of this Act.

285 (17) Financing. The [Department] shall investigate and evaluate financing options
286 for older adult services and shall make recommendations in the report required by Section 4
287 concerning the feasibility of these financing arrangements. These arrangements shall include, but 288 are not limited to:

- 289 (A) private long-term care insurance coverage for older adult services;
290 (B) enhancement of federal long-term care financing initiatives;

292 term care;
293 (D) individual and family cost-sharing options;
294 (E) strategies to reduce reliance on government programs;
295 (F) fraudulent asset divestiture and financial planning prevention; and 296 (G) methods to supplement and support family and community caregiving.

297 (18) Older Adult Services Demonstration Grants. The [Department] shall 298 implement a program of demonstration grants that will assist in the restructuring of the older
299 adult services delivery system, and shall provide funding for innovative service delivery models
300 and system change and integration initiatives pursuant to subsection (g) of Section 5.

301 (19) Bed Need Methodology Update. For the purposes of determining areas with 302 excess beds, the [Departments] shall provide information and assistance to the [Health Facilities
303 Planning Board] to update the [Bed Need Methodology for Long-Term Care] to update the

304 assumptions used to establish the methodology to make them consistent with modern older adult

353 certified nursing home beds in an area with excess beds;
354 (4) the compliance history of the nursing home; and 355 (5) any other relevant factors identified by the [Department], including standards 356 of need.

377 other service providers, local community government leaders, and other stakeholders;
378 (10) the total budget for the project;
379 (11) the financial condition of the applicant; and 380 (12) any other application requirements that may be established by the 381 [Department] by rule.

382 (j) A conversion project funded in whole or in part by a grant under this Section is exempt 383 from the requirements of [insert citation]. The [Department of Public Health], however, shall 384 send to the [Health Facilities Planning Board] a copy of each grant award made under this 385 Section.

386 (k) Applications for grants are public information, except that nursing home financial

Access to Decedents' Electronic Mail Accounts (2007 SSL)

This Act requires email service providers to give estate executors and administrators access to, or copies of, the decedent's email account. The decedent must have been domiciled in Connecticut when they died, and estate executors and administrators must present proof of their status. Email service providers need not disclose information if doing so would violate federal law. Under the Act, an email service provider is an intermediary that gives end users the ability to send or receive email. An electronic mail account contains all email the end user sent or received that the provider has stored or recorded in its regular course of business. It also contains other stored or recorded electronic information directly related to the email services it provided, such as billing and payment information. Executors and administrators can satisfy the Act's requirements by giving the service provider a written request, a copy of the death certificate, and a certified copy of their certificate of appointment. Alternatively, a probate judge who has jurisdiction over the estate can order disclosure.

LEGISLATION

Encouraging Home- and Community-Based Care

Self-Directed In-Home Care (2003 SSL)

This Act provides that someone in need of self-directed in-home care who is a recipient approved to receive certain Medicaid waiver services, or a participant in the state Community and Home Options to Institutional Care for the Elderly And Disabled (CHOICE) program, may employ registered personal services attendants to provide attendant care services. It exempts from these provisions home health agencies, hospice programs, and health care professionals who practice within the scope of their license. It allows a personal services attendant to perform certain self-directed in-home services and medical activities that, in the opinion of the attending physician, meet certain conditions and for which the attendant has received training or instruction on how to properly perform the medical activity from a licensed health professional.

The Act requires an individual in need of in-home care and the individual's case manager to develop an authorized care plan. It provides that procedures must be adopted to receive and adjudicate certain complaints against personal services attendants.

The law also establishes a Governor's Commission on Caregivers to study issues regarding the availability and quality of caregivers in long-term care health settings. It requires the commission to submit a report to the governor and legislative council.

Suggested State Legislation

(Title, enacting clause, etc.)

1 Section 1. [Short Title] This Act may be cited as the “Senior Living Program Act.”

3 Section 2. [Legislative Findings: Goal.]

1. The legislature finds that:

a. The preservation, improvement, and coordination of the health care infrastructure of this state are critical to the health and safety of its citizens.

b. An increasing number of seniors and people with disabilities in the state require long-term care services provided outside of a medical institution.

c. A full array of long-term care services is necessary to provide cost-effective and appropriate services to the varied population of health care consumers.

10

d. The supported development of long-term care alternatives, including assisted-living facility services, adult day care, and home and community-based services, is critical in areas of the state where such alternatives otherwise are not likely to be developed.

12

e. Cost containment in the delivery of health care is necessary to improve services and access for all citizens of this state.

f. Grants are necessary to cover the expenditures related to the development of alternative health care services. Development of these alternatives will improve access to and delivery of long-term care services to underserved people or in underserved areas, which will in turn contain or reduce the cost and improve the quality of health care services.

16

19

g. A continuing source of funding is necessary to enhance the state's ability to meet the rising demand of seniors with low and moderate incomes in obtaining an appropriate variety of long-term care services.

20

2. The goal of this program is to create a comprehensive long-term care system that is consumer-directed, provides a balance between the alternatives of institutionally and non-institutionally provided services, and contributes to the quality of the lives of the citizens of this state.

Assisted Living Reform

This Act:

- Ensures a basic standard of operation, clarification of the assisted living product for consumers, and standardized consumer protections and disclosures. Full protections, however, will only be available when the complete regulations contemplated by the Act are adopted.

- Officially defines an assisted living residence as ‘an entity which houses 5 or more adult residents and provides/arranges for housing, daily food service, 24-hour on-site monitoring, case management, personal care and home care based on the mandatory development of an individualized service plan for each resident.’

- Requires all facilities which market themselves as assisted living residences to be licensed by the state Department of Health. Facilities who allow residents to age in place by providing additional care and services must be licensed and additionally certified by the state as an enhanced assisted living residence. An enhanced assisted living residence must meet further requirements in order to provide the additional services and care. Even further certification is required for specialized enhanced assisted living facilities which are specially equipped to provide services and care for individuals with chronic conditions such as dementia.

- Establishes a mandatory written residency agreement. The residency agreement must be written in plain language and in an easily readable text format and include the following consumer protections:

1. The criteria used by the residence to determine admission to the residence and the criteria which must be met in order to maintain residency at the facility,
2. The base rate for a residence in the facility,
3. The services included in the base rate fee,
4. A list and description of any other services available at the facility,
5. The fee scale for additional services available but not included in the base rate,
6. Billing and payment procedures,
7. The name of the resident’s representative and/or the resident’s legal representative,
8. Name, telephone number, street address and mailing address of the facility,
9. The name and mailing address of the owner and of the operator of the facility,
10. The licensure and, if applicable, additional certification status of the residence,

(Title, enacting clause, etc.)

1 Section 1. [Short Title.] This Act may be cited as “The Assisted Living Reform Act.”

3 Section 2. [Legislative Findings.] The [legislature] hereby finds and declares that
4 congregate residential housing with supportive services in a home-like setting, commonly known
5 as assisted living, is an integral part of the continuum of long-term care. Further, the philosophy
6 of assisted living emphasizes aging in place, personal dignity, autonomy, independence, privacy
7 and freedom of choice. The intent of this Act is to create a clear and flexible statutory structure
8 for assisted living that provides a definition of assisted living residence; that requires licensure of 9 the residence; that requires a written residency agreement that contains consumer protections;
10 that enunciates and protects resident rights; and that provides adequate and accurate information
11 for consumers, which is essential to the continued development of a viable market for assisted 12 living. Entities, which hold themselves out as assisted living residences must apply for licensure
13 and be approved by the state to operate as assisted living residences pursuant to this Act, and 14 must comply with the requirements of this Act.

16 Section 3. [Definitions.] As used in this Act:

17 1. “Assisted living” and “assisted living residence” means an entity which provides or 18 arranges for housing, on-site monitoring, and personal care services and/or home care services
19 (either directly or indirectly) in a home-like setting to [five or more] adult residents unrelated to 20 the assisted living provider. An applicant for licensure as assisted living that has been approved
21 in accordance with the provisions of this Act must also provide daily food service, twenty-four

22 hour on-site monitoring, case management services, and the development of an individualized
23 service plan for each resident. An operator of assisted living shall provide each resident with 24 considerate and respectful care and promote the resident's dignity, autonomy, independence and 25 privacy in the least restrictive and most home-like setting commensurate with the resident's
26 preferences and physical and mental status. Assisted living and enhanced assisted living shall not 27 include:

28 (a) residential health care facilities or general hospitals licensed under [insert
29 citation];

31 authority pursuant to [insert citation], unless the continuing care retirement community is 32 operating an assisted living residence as defined under this section;

35 jurisdiction of the [office for mental health];

42 that were designed for the elderly or persons with disabilities, or homeless persons, provided
43 such entities do not provide or arrange for home care, twenty-four hour supervision or both,
44 beyond providing periodic coordination or arrangement of such services for residents at no
45 charge to residents. Except, however, such entities that are in receipt of grants for conversion of

54 this Act, the [department] shall by regulation, define independent senior housing, provided such 55 definition shall be based on whether the operator does not provide, arrange for, or coordinate 56 personal care services or home care services on behalf of residents; and the facility does not

Section 4. [Licensure Procedures and Requirements for Assisted Living.]

(1) Adult homes and enriched housing programs which possess a valid operating certificate issued pursuant [insert citation], may call themselves assisted living provided they file an application for licensure and are approved by the department as assisted living and comply with all the requirements of this Act.

(2) In order to operate as assisted living, an operator shall be licensed as an adult home or enriched housing program and apply and be approved for licensure with the [commissioner] pursuant to this Act. The operator shall provide, on an application form developed by the [commissioner], the following information to the [commissioner] in order to be licensed:

- (a) business name, street address, and mailing address of the residence and of the owners of the residence;
- (b) status of current operating certificate;
- (c) verification that the operator has a valid residency agreement in compliance with this Act to be entered into with each resident, resident's representative and resident's legal representative, if any, and shall include a copy of the information to be included in the residency agreement and disclosures as required pursuant to this Act that will be given to prospective residents; and
- (d) any other information the [department] may deem necessary for the evaluation of the application provided such information is not duplicative of what is otherwise required of the applicant in obtaining an adult care facility license.

Section 5. [Enhanced Assisted Living Certificate.]

(1) Nothing in this Act shall require a residence to obtain an enhanced assisted living certificate unless such residence elects to provide aging in place by retaining residents described in this Act.

(2) An assisted living operator may apply to the [department] to obtain an enhanced assisted living certificate pursuant to this section.

- (a) Such application shall be on a form approved by the [department].
- (b) An assisted living operator may apply for such a certificate for the entire facility or any number of beds at the facility.
- (c) To obtain an enhanced assisted living certificate, the applicant must submit a plan to the [department] setting forth how the additional needs of residents will be safely and appropriately met at such residence. Such plan shall include, but need not be limited to, a written description of services, staffing levels, staff education and training, work experience, and any environmental modifications that have been made or will be made to protect the health, safety and welfare of such persons in the residence.
- (d) In addition to any other requirements of assisted living, an operator of enhanced assisted living may hire care staff directly pursuant to standards developed by the [department] or contract with a home care services agency which has been approved to operate pursuant to [insert citation].

(e) No assisted living residence shall be certified as enhanced assisted living unless and until the applicant obtains the written approval of the [department].

(3) No resident shall be permitted to continue to age in place under the terms of an enhanced assisted living certificate unless the operator, the resident's physician, and, if applicable, the resident's licensed or certified home care agency, agree that the additional needs

160 of the resident can be safely and appropriately met at the residence. A resident eligible for 161 enhanced assisted living or his or her representative shall submit to the residence a written report 162 from a physician, which report shall state that:

163 (a) the physician has physically examined the resident within the last month; and

164 (b) the resident is not in need of twenty-four hour skilled nursing care or medical 165 care which would require placement in a hospital or residential health care facility.

166 (4) The residence must notify a resident that, while the residence will make reasonable
167 efforts to facilitate the resident's ability to age in place pursuant to an individualized service 168 plan, there may be a point reached where the needs of the resident cannot be safely or 169 appropriately met at the residence, requiring the transfer of the resident to a more appropriate
170 facility in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

171 (5) If a resident reaches the point where he or she is twenty-four hour skilled nursing 172 care or medical care required to be provided by facilities licensed pursuant to [insert citation], 173 then the resident must be discharged from the residence and the operator shall initiate 174 proceedings for the termination of the residency agreement of such resident in accordance with 175 the provisions of [insert citation]. Provided, however, a resident may remain at the residence if 176 each of the following conditions are met:

177 (a) a resident in need of twenty-four hour skilled nursing care or medical care
178 hires appropriate nursing, medical or hospice staff to care for his or her increased needs;

179 (b) the resident's physician and home care services agency both determine and 180 document that, with the provision of such additional nursing, medical or hospice care, the 181 resident can be safely cared for in the residence, and would not require placement in a hospital,
182 nursing home or other facility licensed under [insert];

183 (c) the operator agrees to retain the resident and to coordinate the care provided by 184 the operator and the additional nursing, medical or hospice staff; and 185 (d) the resident is otherwise eligible to reside at the residence.

186 (6) In addition to the requirements otherwise required for licensure as assisted living, any 187 residence that advertises or markets itself as serving individuals with special needs, including,
188 but not limited to, individuals with dementia or cognitive impairments, must submit a special
189 needs plan to the [department] setting forth how the special needs of such residents will be safely
190 and appropriately met at such residence. Such plan shall include, but need not be limited to, a
191 written description of specialized services, staffing levels, staff education and training, work 192 experience, professional affiliations or special characteristics relevant to serving persons with 193 special needs, and

194 (7) Any environmental modifications that have been made or will be made to protect the 195 health, safety and welfare of such persons in the residence. In approving an application for 196 special needs certification, the [department] shall develop standards to ensure adequate staffing 197 and training in order to safely meet the needs of the resident. The standards shall be based upon
198 recommendations of a task force established by [insert citation]. No residence shall market 199 themselves as providing specialized services unless and until the [department] has approved such 200 applicant for a special needs assisted living certificate.

201 (7) An enhanced assisted living certificate shall not be required of an adult care facility,
202 or part thereof, which has obtained approval by the [department] to operate an assisted living
203 program pursuant to [insert citation]. Provided, however, such exemption shall only apply to 204 those beds at the facility which are subject to the assisted living program.

205

206 Section 6. [General Applicability of Laws to Assisted Living and Enhanced Assisted 207 Living Facilities.]

209 or hold itself out as an entity which otherwise meets the definition of assisted living or advertise
210 itself as assisted living or by a similar term, without obtaining the approval of the [department] to 211 operate as an adult care facility pursuant to this Act. Provided however, that an entity may
212 simultaneously apply for approval to operate as an adult care facility and as an assisted living

217 citation] and shall obtain and maintain all other licenses, permits, registrations, or other

219 (3) Approval for licensure or certification pursuant to this Act may be granted only to an 220 applicant who satisfactorily demonstrates:

221 (a) that such applicant possesses a valid operating certificate to operate as an adult
222 home or enriched housing program pursuant to [insert citation]. An applicant that does not 223 currently possess such operating certificate as an adult home or enriched housing program may 224 simultaneously apply and be approved for such certificate and all other licenses and certifications
225 authorized under this Act;

226 (b) that such applicant which has an existing valid adult care facility operating 227 certificate, is in good standing with the [department]. For purposes of this subdivision, good 228 standing shall mean the applicant has not

229 (i) received any official written notice from the [department] of a 230 proposed revocation, suspension, denial or limitation on the operating certificate of the facility or 231 residence;

232 (ii) within the previous [three years], been assessed a civil penalty after a
233 hearing conducted pursuant to [insert citation] for a violation that has not been rectified;

238 [insert citation];

239 (v) within the previous [three years], been placed on, and if placed on,
240 removed from the [department's] "do not refer list" pursuant to [insert citation]. Provided
241 however that in the case of an applicant which otherwise meets the requirements of this section,
242 but is not in good standing as provided in this paragraph, the [department] may approve said
243 applicant if it determines that the applicant is of good moral character and is competent to 244 operate the residence. Such character and competence review shall be limited to applicants not in 245 good standing pursuant to this paragraph or an applicant subject to paragraph (f) of this 246 subdivision. As part of the review provided pursuant to this paragraph, the [department] shall, on 247 its webpage, solicit and consider public comment;

248 (c) that such applicant has adequate financial resources to provide such assisted 249 living as proposed;

250 (d) that the building, equipment, staff, standards of care and records to be 251 employed in the operation comply with applicable statutes and any applicable local law;

252 (e) that any license or permit required by law for the operation of such residence 253 has been issued to such operator; and

254 (f) in the case of an applicant which does not have an existing valid adult care 255 facility operating certificate, such applicant shall otherwise comply with the provisions for 256 certification as prescribed by [insert citation].

257 (4) The [department] shall develop an expedited review and approval process.

258 (5) The knowing operation of an assisted living or enhanced assisted living residence
259 without the prior written approval of the [department] shall be a [class A misdemeanor]7.

260 (6) Every assisted living residence that is required to possess an assisted living residence
261 license shall be licensed on a [biennial basis and shall pay a biennial licensure fee]. Such fee
262 shall be [five hundred dollars per license], with an additional fee of [fifty dollars per resident 263 whose annual income is above four hundred percent of the federal poverty level]. Such 264 additional fee shall be based on the total occupied beds at the time of application, up to a
265 maximum biennial licensure fee of [five thousand dollars]. Said fee shall be in addition to the fee
266 charged by the [department] for certification as an adult care facility. Every assisted living
267 residence that applies for an enhanced assisted living certificate or a special needs assisted living
268 certificate shall pay an additional [biennial fee], in addition to any other fee required by this 269 subdivision, in the amount of [two thousand dollars], provided that for any residence applying 270 for both an enhanced assisted living certificate and a special needs assisted living certificate the 271 amount of such fee shall be [three thousand dollars].

272 (7) The requirements of this Act shall be in addition to those required of an adult care
273 facility. In the event of a conflict between any provision of this Act and [insert citation], the 274 applicable provision of this Act or the applicable regulation shall supersede [insert citation] or 275 the applicable regulation thereunder to the extent of such conflict.

278 pursuant to this Act.

280 Section 7. [Residency Admission.]

281 (1) An assisted living operator shall conduct an initial pre-admission evaluation of a 282 prospective resident to determine whether or not the individual is appropriate for admission to 283 the assisted living residence. Such evaluation shall be conducted by the operator and, if 284 necessary, in conjunction with a home care services agency or appropriate employee pursuant to 285 this Act. The operator shall conduct all such evaluations using an evaluation tool developed by 286 the [department], to be based on the recommendations of the task force created pursuant to 287 [insert citation] or one developed by the operator that receives approval by the [department].

288 (2) The assisted living operator shall not admit any resident if the operator is not able to
