Anti-Phishing

This Act makes it unlawful for any person to represent oneself, either directly or by implication, to be another person, without the authorization or permission of such other person, through the use of the Internet, electronic mail messages or any other electronic means, including wireless communication, and to solicit, request, or take any action to induce a resident of this state to provide identifying information or identification documents.

The Act makes it unlawful for any person without the authorization or permission of the person who is the subject of the identifying information, with the intent to defraud, for such person's own use or the use of a third person, or to sell or distribute the information to another, to:

1. Fraudulently obtain, record or access identifying information that would assist in accessing financial resources, obtaining identification documents, or obtaining benefits of such other person;
2. Obtain goods or services through the use of identifying information of such other person;
3. Obtain identification documents in such other person's name.

The Act makes it unlawful for any person with the intent to defraud and without the authorization or permission of the person who is the owner or licensee of a Web page or Web site to:

1. Knowingly duplicate or mimic all or any portion of the Web site or Web page;
2. Direct or redirect an electronic mail message from the IP address of a person to any other IP address;
3. Use any trademark, logo, name, or copyright of another person on a Web page; or
4. Create an apparent but false link to a Web page of a person which is directed or redirected to a Web page or IP address other than that of the person represented.

This Act enables the following people to bring an action against a person who violates or the Act:

1. A person who:
   A. Is engaged in the business of providing Internet access service to the public, owns a Web page, or owns a trademark; and
   B. Suffers ascertainable loss by a violation of this Act.

(d) It shall be unlawful for any person to attempt to commit any of the offenses enumerated in this section.

Section 4. [People Who May Bring Actions Against Violators of This Act.]

(a) The following people may bring an action against a person who violates or is in violation of [Section 3] of this Act:

1. A person who:
   A. Is engaged in the business of providing internet access service to the public, owns a Web page, or owns a trademark; and
   B. Suffers ascertainable loss by a violation of [Section 3] of this Act. An action brought under this subdivision may seek to recover the greater of actual damages or [five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000)].
2. An individual who suffers an ascertainable loss by a violation of [Section 3] of this Act may bring an action, but only against a person who has directly violated [Section 3] of this Act. An action brought under this subdivision may seek to enjoin further violations of [Section 3] of this Act and to recover the greater of [three (3) times] the amount of actual damages or [five thousand dollars ($5,000)], per violation.

(b) The [attorney general] or a [district attorney] may bring an action against a person who violates or is in violation of [Section 3] of this Act to enjoin further violations of [Section 3] of this Act and to recover a civil penalty of up to [two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500)], per violation.

(c) In an action pursuant to this part, a court may, in addition, do either or both of the following:

1. Increase the recoverable damages to an amount up to [three (3) times] the damages otherwise recoverable under subdivision (a) in cases in which the defendant has established a pattern and practice of violating [Section 3] of this Act; or
2. Award costs of the suit and reasonable attorney’s fees to a prevailing plaintiff.

(d) The remedies provided in this part do not preclude the seeking of remedies, including criminal remedies, under any other applicable provision of the law.

(e) For purposes of subdivision (1) of subsection (a), multiple violations of [Section 3] of this Act resulting from any single action or conduct shall constitute [one (1) violation].
(f) No provider of an interactive computer service may be held liable under this Act or any other provision of state law for identifying, removing, or disabling access to content that resides on an Internet Web page or other online location that such provider believes in good faith is used to engage in a violation of this Act.

Section 5. [Violation of State Consumer Protection Act.]

(a) A violation of this Act constitutes a violation of the [State Consumer Protection Act], compiled in [insert citation].

(b) For the purpose of application of the [State Consumer Protection Act], any violation of the provisions of this Act shall be construed to constitute an unfair or deceptive act or practice affecting trade or commerce and subject to the penalties and remedies as provided in that Act, in addition to the penalties and remedies set forth in this Act.

(c) If the [division] has reason to believe that any person has violated any provision of this Act, the [attorney general], at the request of the [division], may institute a proceeding under this Act.

Section 6. [Severability.] [Insert severability clause.]

Section 7. [Repealer.] [Insert repealer clause.]

Section 8. [Effective Date.] [Insert effective date.]
